

XM Satellite is a LEGAL private business who sells a service to which I subscribe. I believe the government needs to stay out of legal businesses' BUSINESS. I liken this to cable tv channels that are now giving the "Big 3" a run for their money. If the public chooses to pay to listen to specific type radio programming, then our choice should not be attacked by established radio moguls who feel threatened by new innovations in technology that really make our life a little more pleasant. Sounds like sour grapes to me.

Randell M. Broussard